I recognize that my actions are an embarrassment to myself, my family, the City of Chicago, and the Almighty. I am a dibshit.
- Contest by Mail
Enclose a signed statement from registered owner of all this crap explaining why said owner feels they deserve ownership over public property, and why they should not be considered a dibshit.
- Request for In-Person Hearing
Hearing will be to determine why I'm a selfish dibshit, and to understand why I create excuses to justify the theft of a public parking space.

Receiving this notice is an embarrassment to you, your family and the human race. Stop looking at this notice in disbelief and anger, and start doing the right thing. Take all of your junk and stick it back in the basement. Then post a sign of apology stating that you were a dibshit. The next time it snows, and you think you are going to be a dibshit again, look at all the shoveled sidewalks around you and ask why nobody is blocking the public walkway with folding lawn chairs.

By Ordinance, the following grounds are allowed for contesting a violation:

1. The respondent was not the owner of the items taking up a public parking space, but can locate the dibshit who was.
2. The cited dibs paraphernalia was stolen and erroneously placed on a shoveled parking space intended for anybody to use
3. The relevant signs of normalcy, sanity and humanity were completely absent from accused dibshit, and official documentation from a psychiatrist and remaining family members can be provided
4. The relevant parking situation would be too difficult for me to enter my home. Many will assume I'm a dibshit because unlike the majority of physically disabled residents of Chicago who applied for and received residential disabled parking signs, I was too lazy to fill out the basic application.
5. The facts alleged in this violation are inconsistent with my legal classification as a jagoff, not a lowly dibshit.
6. The illegal condition described in this violation notice could have been so much worse but I didn't have any more crap to litter the street with
7. The compliance violation has been corrected prior to the hearing. I was a dibshit. But I have sought salvation. I now shovel the snow blocking my vehicle. I acknowledge that this vehicle, rather than my hard physical labor, prevented the majority of snow from taking up the parking space. I equally acknowledge that all peoples have equal rights to a parking space, and I no longer make any claims to said spot upon removal of snow.

If you or your street blocking junk were in the possession of an evil spirit at the time of claiming city owned property as your own, you have 10 days to submit a clear legible copy of an exorcism receipt.

TO CONTEST BY CORRESPONDENCE

BY WEB: Visit www.dibshit.com. Submit a photograph of you shoveling a parking space, and another with a photo of somebody else's vehicle in the same space.

BY MAIL: If you are incapable of using the world wide webs, you are a dibshit. There will be no redemption.

TO CONTEST IN PERSON

You may request an in-person hearing before a hearing officer.

BY WEB: Visit www.dibshit.com. Choose the time and day you will be shoveling a parking space and allowing it to remain open for public use. A dibshit mediator will contact you to set up an appointment.

BY MAIL: You are still a dibshit.

IF YOU FAIL TO RESPOND TO THIS VIOLATION NOTICE, IT IS TO BE UNDERSTOOD THAT YOU ARE A DIBSHIT.

Remember: As soon as you placed items on public property in an effort to claim it as your own, you became a dibshit. This violation notice is clearly for amusement purposes only, but that does not alleviate the fact that you are a dibshit.
